Policies and Procedures

Why Study this Material? (Course Goals.)

The objects and buildings discussed in this class are fundamental expressions of human creativity that are linked to disciplines beyond art history. The course empowers you to arrive at a more nuanced understanding of Western cultures and their intersections with the world. You will develop skills in critical analysis and interpretation through comparison and an awareness of history and iconography in art and architecture. You will also foster an appreciation of art in myriad forms, increase your sensitivity to cultural diversity, and notice how the past shapes the present.

Course Description

This course surveys Western art and architecture from the sixteenth century (1500s) to the twentieth century (1900s). It frames the study of art history within a social context and helps you understand visual forms and interpret meaning in works of art. Topics range from the role of art and patrons in the High Renaissance and Baroque periods to Modernism in the arts in America, including media of painting, printmaking, sculpture, architecture, and photography.

Credit Hours

Prerequisites:

Satisfactory completion of college writing proficiency requirement.

Student Learning Outcomes:

In taking this course, you will:

content

- analyze art by recognizing elements of form;
- interpret artworks based upon cultural context and time periods;
- explain how art expresses diverse cultural values;
- expand your mental map of art history and your definition of art (and "Art");
- acquire new knowledge of the systems and structures that shape our understanding of art history;

skills

- develop critical thinking skills through reading, study, and discussion;
- improve as writers when you write questions and responses based on assigned materials and take short essay-based exams;
- become more observant through a close study of works of art;
- choose methods to best answer questions related to the history of art and visual culture; -- learn to talk, disagree, and argue in a constructive way;

application

- integrate an examination of works of art into your major area of study;
- relate works of art to intersections of race, sex, gender, and class;
- appreciate how your lived experience intersects with art every day;
- and pursue personal art interests and share them with others.

Mode of Instruction

The instructional mode for this class is asynchronous with no designated class meeting time, week to week.

Participation and Grading

Your grade in this course will be determined by your performance in the following categories:

Assignments	Percentage
Quizzes(3)	15%
Tests 1 and 2 (short essays)	50%
Questions based on readings (online forum)	15%
Responses based on your classmates' questions (online forum)	15%
Additional assignments	5%
Total	100%

Grading Scale:

The grading scale in the class will be as follows:

A=90-100%

B=80-89%

C=70-79%

D=60-69%

F=59% And Below

You may track your running point total throughout the term via our course site. Please be aware, however, that the course grade you see in the site will reflect only assignments and activities you have already completed and that your professor has graded.

Academic Integrity

Wesleyan's College expects student to show integrity in all of their work. Cheating, plagiarism, unauthorized collaboration, inventing or falsifying information, turning in work for more than one class without authorization, or helping someone else are all violations of the Honor Code and are not tolerated. Any of these forms of cheating will not be tolerated and will be grounds for a grade of zero on the exam or assignment and a grade of F for the course, in addition to any penalties imposed by the Provost.

Late Assignment Policies

I want to help you succeed during these challenging times. Submit assignments by the due date although a two-day grace period is acceptable without late penalty. I will not accept work after the grace period unless there has been a discussion to reasonably modify deadlines. Please contact me if a crisis occurs (illness, injury, internet difficulties, etc.) that prevents you from submitting your work in a timely fashion.

Attendance Policy

Wesleyan's Attendance Policy will be upheld in this course. Refer to Wesleyan's Campus-Wide Academic Policies for more information.

Because visual language skills develop slowly over time and with practice, regular participation is essential in this course. Any time students do not participate fully in class, their grades may suffer due to missed instruction, group assignments, and/or collaborative activities.

Potential Changes to Course Schedule

The following week-to-week schedule is a general plan for the course. Deviations may be necessary and will be announced in advance via announcement and/or e-mail. Students should check their course site announcements and emails at least once every twenty-four hours throughout the term to watch for updates regarding this course.

Course Schedule

NOTICE:

This syllabus sets forth a tentative schedule of class topics. However, the instructor reserves the right to modify this schedule and assignments to enhance student learning.

Civility in the Academic Community

Students, faculty, and staff are expected to treat one another with respect in all interactions both during class meetings and on the Moodle course site. Rude, disruptive and/or disrespectful behaviors as determined by a faculty member interfere with other students' rights and with the professor's ability to teach. Therefore, any student exhibiting unacceptable behaviors during a class meeting or Moodle collaborative activity will be asked to leave and will be counted absent for that class period or activity. Failure to cooperate with this process will result in disciplinary action that may include withdrawal from the class or dismissal from the College. Violations will be reported to the Provost.

Disabilities Statement

Wesleyan College is committed to equal education, full participation and access to facilities for all students. Any student who requires reasonable academic accommodations, use of auxiliary aids or facility access for a class must first register with Disability Resources by contacting Jill Amos, Director of Disability and Advocacy Services, jamos@wesleyancollege.edu or (478) 757-5219. If reasonable accommodations are established, students should request Accommodation Letters from Disability Resources then schedule an appointment to meet with the professor to determine how the accommodations will be implemented for each class as early in the semester as possible. Accommodations require advance notice to implement and will not be retroactively administered for the semester. Accommodations that decrease the integrity of a course will not be approved.

Privacy in Teaching & Learning Spaces

In order to promote an environment in which ideas may be freely expressed, the interior offices; in-person and virtual classrooms; and Moodle course sites at Wesleyan are private spaces. The unauthorized creation of photographic images, audio recordings, or video recordings of students or faculty in these spaces is considered to be disruptive behavior which may result in a student's removal from class according to the professor's discretion. The distribution of unauthorized images or recordings, or of class meeting recordings shared by a professor for instructional purposes, without the express written permission of the College is strictly prohibited and is subject to disciplinary action by the Provost of the College.
